During the academic session 2016-17, various activities were organized under the cell "NSS for Tribal Awareness". All this work is done through the National Service Planning Team in the Melghat area adjacent to the college. Melghat division is situated in Satpuda range and is a hilly region surrounded by natural beauty. Chikhaldara and Dharani in the Amravati district of Maharashtra are called Melghat. There are various castes of the tribal community living in this area such as Gond, Nihal, Ballai, Golan, Gawli, Hubli and Wanjali. As this whole area is hilly, there are inadequate roads, lack of clean water, inadequate facilities for education, inadequate amount of industry, lack of fertile land, lack of employment etc. Since there are many problems in Melghat division, there is a question of generosity, standard of living and standard of living of the people there. Due to this, these people have to face economic problems and alternatively social problems. In this tribal awareness programme, the citizens of the village were guided on various topics and their conclusions were noted. Sanitation campaign was implemented in the village as well as announcements were made in the village regarding cleanliness, health, de-addiction, Distribution of the education material etc. The importance of education was emphasized to the people of the village so that all the children of the village could be educated.
